M B A | | | (M.B.A.)

The master of business administration (M.B.A.) program provides training in business for students interested in understanding the working nature of business in a competitive environment. Courses in the M.B.A. program integrate information and theories from various disciplines, including accounting, economics, finance, marketing, production operations, and strategic management. The objective of this program is to develop students into broadly educated business managers and executives who understand the nature of business as a whole, with the tools and techniques applicable to a wide variety of business situations. The capstone for the M.B.A. program gives students the chance to bring together all of the theories, skills, and tools studied during the program and integrate them into a learning experience that highlights the nature of competition and the kind of strategic maneuvering that must be(5dne f)teed. u248of comand

The Master of Arts (M.A.) in International Relations enables CGSC students to add to their military studies in analyzing the complexities and processes involved in world politics and international affairs. Webster University coursework provides exposure to the key subfields of the international community and relevant issues such as globalization, human rights, humanitarian action, and economic development. This program is ideal for CGSC students continuing their military career at the joint operational and strategic levels of service, to include governmental agencies, intergovernmental organizations, nongovernmental organizations, or multinational corporations. This program is also recommended to students planning to pursue a Ph.D., or an academic career at other institutions.

The 36 credit hours required for the Master of Arts (M.A.) degree must include the following courses for a major in International Relations:

- INTL 5000 Introduction to International Relations (3 credit hours)
- INTL 5100 Research Methods and Perspectives (3 credit hours)
- Three courses from Comparative Politics Cluster (6 credit hours)
- Three courses from International Politics Cluster (12 credit hours)
